CORK AND CIPILITY. MAGAZINE SECTION

OAKLAND, CAL., SUNDAY, APRIL 25, 1909

HE world does not realize that its navies are being built over. Advent of battleships of the Dread-nought class has revolutionized the fleets of the nations, as though mankind had suddenly doubled in size and needed warships of corresponding proportions.

Huge as was the task of building the earlier battleships of the Indiana type—of which we were as proud as a boy with an airgun—the advance to a floating fortress which weighs 21,825 tons, when it is freighted for war, becomes a labor that may well tax the energies of titans as well as the mathematical genius of a Newton.

The towering hull of an American battleship of the greater Dreadnought clars, such as is now growing into its leviathan wastness at the yards of the New York Shipbuilding Company at Camden, N. J., leaves its human creators a horde of ludicrous pygmies, as though Gulliver's Lilliputians had invaded some port of the Brobdingnagians.

But in the world's ports and shipyards nowadays there are no human giants or titans—only the pygmies of the days of Nelson and John Poul Jones. Yet back of their small strength lie the united powers of a civilization so much more ordered and cooperative that the earlier eras of the navies of the seas would look like chaos now.

The story of these modern bulldogs of war, and the story of their making, becomes something infinitely more wast and intricate than that which can be seen with the eye, even though a man swere to stand wakeful on the spot, as the battleship rises on the ways, for the whole thirty-two menths of their construction.

N THE time of the wooden warship it was a case of main strength and the carpenter's eye. There were mathematicians, then, who made calculations which they no doubt considered puzzlingly intricate and difficult—as, no doubt, they were, for shipbuilding engineers were dealing with oaks and teaks whose densities, warps, duetilities and resist-

One-quarter completed-up to armor plate shelf

ances were infinitely varied.

The greatest scientist who ever lived could only approximate what the mechanics might find in the timber; and the planners of ships perforce depended upon the shipwrights to adjust the discrepancies between the figures and the material which came to their hands.

The muscles that lay in the arms and legs and backs of the workmen, aided by simple pulley and occasional horsepower, had to suffice to heave the oaken beams in place, and the thud of the hanmer upon nail heads was like the dropping fire of the old flint-lock guns in battle, where the steam or electric riveter today, low toned, but of incredible quickness in its ratiatat, wakes resounding eclices from the upured dome of steel, as though a hundred quick-firers were repelling some multitudinous torpedo attack.

In the modern shippard wood stems to be a thing practically unknown. The shippard is a foundry, with all the sights and sounds, the smells and very tastes that make the atmosphere of some cyclopean forge.

But every inch of steel plate, every pound of steel girder comes to the yard from mighty forges many miles away, with the last atom of its strength guaranteed, so that the mayal constructors know precisely how many pounds of any given explosive will be required to make a dent in any plate, and just how great a strain will be readed to extent a single holf.

The very impact of the riveting muchine is measured, for it works with the accuracy and certainty of a watch, and the man who handles it can tell how many ounces of force there are in the blow it delivers upon a square inch of surface, where he couldn't tell, to save his life, the force there is in his own arm wielding a sledge, and could not deliver twice in succession a blow which would do precisely the same work on each occasion.

It is not merely the city of iron workers that labors on this modern bulldog of the navy, nor even those other cities above and under the earth that toil in the buried mines and sweat before the flaming furnaces until the roaring mouths vemit molten metal. In the knowledge which this generation applies are embodied all the learning and the lere of the thousands who have lived and died since the first "teakettle on a raft" hegan to sail the seas, not even emitting the brave and vain and foolish victims of Russia's mad sacrifice, when Rojestvensky sailed to his defeat. Theirs was part of the tithe the warship's progress takes of men's lives.

As the modern battleship marks the latest development in construction for the navies, so it bids fair to mark the last stage of hugeness which, will be recorded for a long period to

Beyond the length of 500 feet and the breadth of nearly 100 feet, with a draught of nearly 30 feet, lie the limits of many of the world's ports and docks and, especially, the limits of the important canals.

Perhaps, with the existence of a mighty nation dependent upon enlargement, the time will arrive when some vastly greater hattleships shall seem imperative; but that is a long way off, as yet.

So the problem of the modern naval bulldog here is the problem the whole world over.
The Vanguard, Great Britain's seventh vessel of the Dreadnought type, launched a few weeks ago at Barrow-on-Furness, was, indeed, 1350 tons heavier, ten feet louger and two feet broader than her famous forerunner, but she remained still in the class which all the nations are equaling, and many, including Great Britain, are moderately exceeding.

A TITANIC CRUISER

In fact, almost at the hour when the Vanguard was speeding down the ways 500 feet long, 84 feet in breadth and displacing 19,250 tons—she was surpassed in several dimensions by a more cruiser.

by a mere cruiser.

It was, to be sure, only the keel that was laid at Devenport dockyard, but that keel was the keel of the battleship-cruiser Indefatigable, in its turn and in its class giving to Great Britain the guarantee of owning, upon completic, the fastest and most powerful cruiser that all sweep the seas. She will be 555 feet long, io feet in the beam and 19,000 tons displacement and she will carry night instead of

[UNITED STATES ALONE CAN SAVE THE OLD WORLD FROM GENERAL WAR, SAYS WILLIAM T. STEAD

New Heir to Throne Can Force Peace by Shutting Our Purse and Ports Against Fighting Folk.

> Failing Weapon of Boycott Deliverance From Impending Doom Will Come From Terrors of the Air.

(By William T. Stead)
ONDON, April 24.—I have just returned from my visit to Paris and am filled with an uneasy foreboding that the old world if loft to it elf will sooner or later, probably sooner than later, gravitate into wide wasling war. As I cabled last week the continent has crystallized into two sharply rival, if not hostile camps, each full of distrust of the other. There seems to be no end of the heaping up of military and naval expenditures. There scens to be no chance of the organization of an armed league of neutral powers to compel the disputants to refer their quarrels to arbitration. Any attempt to organize such a league would be resented by the Gorman-Austrian empire as a blow leveled against their liberty of action. Rather than wait to be isolated by the league of neutrals, the German Austrian mailed fist would strike and strike without parley.

IT IS INCREASINGLY EVIDENT THAT IF DELIVERANCE IS TO BE FOUND IT MUST COME FROM WITHOUT. AND IT CAN ONLY COME FROM TWO SOURCES—FROM THE AIR OR FROM AMERICA.

Warshi ps Will Destroy Frontiers

The aeroplane and airships by destroying frontiers will compel reconsideration of the whole international problem. I discussed with M Pichon, the French minister of foreign affairs the importance of summoning a new hague conference to consider the reorganization of a frontierless world.

But tomorrow will soon be here and it will find the governments all unprepared to face one of the vastest "Manana, manana!"

and most far-reaching revolutions of human history. Failing the aeropline there is still another hope for the old world. When, according to Cannings magnilequent boast, he called the new world into existence to redress the balance of the old, he spoke after the manner of prophets not by any means clearly perceiving what his words implied. We are only beginning to see it today.

Year by year the shadow of the colossus of the West lies heavier across the old world. Since the days of Lafayette, America has been a great revolutionizing force in Europe. But as yet her influence has been in its infancy. It is beginning to be perceived that if the old world is to be saved from fratricidal suicide—to perpetrate a oull—its salvation will not come from Paris, or even from The Hague, but from Wathington.

Increasing Power of United States

When I left Paris the French government was actively preparing armed force to maintain order in Meru, When I left Paris the French government was actively preparing armed force to maintain order in Mern, since been secretary to the military decore the center of the properous button-making industry. Why this need of ministerial councils, for the swift partment of the India office. movements of horses, foot and artillery in a time of profound peace? The answer is simple. America has ceased to buy buttons from Meru. Wages came down with a slump, thousands of men were thrown out of work, the sixeets and lanes are full of hungry and desperate men muttering threats of revolution. It is but a single instance of the way in which the purchasing power of the American dollar may influence for good or cost the tranquility of the

There are three great com nercial navies in the world, greater than the navies of most nations. The North German Lloyd. The Hamburg American, and the Cunard Company represent the most Aigantic combination of wealth and genius employed in the carrying service of the world. And you know the North German Lloyd lost over four million dollars on last year's we king and neither the Cunard nor the Hamburg-American could pay a dividend. Why? The answer is simple. The financial crisis in America which reduced emigration by 70 per cent

Tariff Tinkering Adds to Burden

The tariff is now being tinkered in your Congress. The revision of a schedule may spell blue ruin to a whole district in the old world, or it may fill the countryside with prosperity. More and more is it becoming manifest to all men that when Christopher Columbus suiled across the Atlantic he brought with him the throne of an empire which was henceforth to be set up in the Western world,

It is this which gives us hope - It is possible that the vast ascendance of the American people, an ascendance exercised not by armies and iron clads, but by control of the markets of the world, may be the mouns by which Europe may be deterred from its chronic fear of devastating war. I see Mr. Carnesie has again declared practieally that he loved peace so much he was prepared to fight for it. Perhaps in time he may induce his fellow citizens to secure peace by boycotting all nations that refuse to settle their quarrels by arbitration,

Peace by a Commercial Boycott

General Booth astonished some people not a little by his prophecy that the day may come when the wonering world will ask: "In what country can I find the thing described by the letter of the Bible and set forth in the life of Jesus

And the answer will be "America."

But without going quite so far as my beloved old friend with whom and for whom I have worked for more than thirty years, I venture to suggest that in every important department of human affairs the settlement or adjustment of disputes between nations the American people might prevent war in Europe by the liberal obedience fled to his grandfather. Christian law.

Dr. Lyman Abbot pointed out long ago that in the gospel Christ never specifies any method of enforcing His in discovering her retreat. He seems

The next lay Nicholas II was walking in the great gallery of the palace. He asked for a cup and ball, a game of which the czar is very fond. He tossed the rosewood bail into the air and when it struck the cup it exploded. Fortunately the bomb was not of great strength and the czar was uninjured. Two murderous anarchistic plots in a week. Life on the Russian throne is not, you see, a happy one.

Watching Mrs. Taft

I have no the honor of knowing Mrs. Taft, but—I ke all Parisians, I am interested in her aspirations and in the explanation she gives of them Now I learn from the Eb aminer that during the four years at the White House she is going to try to shift the center of gravity of fashion.

This is no slight task; but frankly, my sympathies are all with Mis. Taft in the assault sae is leading against the citades where reign those absolute sovereigns, the dressmakers of Paris, who monopolize fashion.

Mis. Taft has undertaken, I understand, to beak down this monopoly. In other words, she is going to destroy the Partiel of tashion itself.

Fetich of tashion itself.

It is quite clear. Fashion exists only because the world of women follows with admiration someone who invents and propagates the modes.

Parisians Set Style For a long time it has been the Parisian woman who has set the styles and she has never had to fear a rival. It is not too much to assume that in this duel between Mrs. Tait and the eternal Farisian, the first lady of your land is conquered in advance.

Take first their cowardice-moral and physical cowardice. The latter we respect as a delicate refined part of sex-the part that brings out and develops its complement in man. The physical weakness in women is the moral as well as the physical strength of men. If it were not for the weak, helpless little woman somewhere in the man's life his incentives would be gone. The moral cowardire, however, is a more serious matter. Through this cuality, which is also mental deficiency—a sort of insanity, as reasoned out in medical jurisprudence—women do the things that have been done recently in England; scratch and scream and attack policemen, Housen of Farliament, disturb and upset the rights of others not interested in their cause, and then triumphantly go to prison as martyrs, to glory in the fact that, at least, they have attracted attention to the great fight that women he recognized on an equal plane of citizenship. develops its complement in man. # All the Swells Wore Guns and Played "WildWest"

NEW YORK,-Everybody carried gun, or a bruce of them, at the Wild West Show at the Waldorf, the other night, for the banefit of our old friend, Stony Wold, says Town Topics. It was Mayor Mott to Preside at the under the auspices of that enterprising auxiliary, No. 9. Of auxiliaries Nos. 14 to 8 inclusive I have never heard, pos-sibly becomes they have never perpetrated anything so delightfully rough-house. The men smoked pipes in the Asior Gallery, and many pretty girls ex-hibited an unusual amount of silk stocking from beneath carelorsly laced bearskin leggings, and more than one shortdeb-decided the the temperature of the Waldorf was not compatible with such wintry trappings. For instance, the lovely Eleanor Duane, the pride of the ranch, wore a pair of abbreviated stockings and was whirled over the ballroom floor on roller skates by two men.

She succeeded in making quite a novel picture—though roller skates aren't usually associated with the plains. She also succeeded in playing havor with the ballroom floor. With her hair streaming down her back and wearing a Mealoan sombrero she appeared about fourteen—and no more. The side show at the Red Light Opera House, emitted "Blood, Blood, Burkets of Blood, or, Nugget Nell the Pet of Poker Flag," was and was supposed to he a burlesquo on the sort of shows that do Hokukus, N. J., but as not 2 per cent of that Waldorf audience had ever seen a cheap show it was, I fear, not appreciated quite as the was, I fear, not appreciated quite as the efforts of Miss Helen McLaughlin to make it wild and woolly deserved. Miss Mo-Laughlin's only ewer was that she did not permit Stinging Lizard, the Mexican greaser, to cut the cards in the big

As I said, guns prevailed. Directly inside the entrance was a booth where Wind-Chester revolvers were sold by Miss Jeannette Cholmoley-Jones, the attractive niece of Miss Jeannette Gilder. She was assisted by her flance, Mr. Pearson, to whom she will be married in the early Fox, the daughter of Austin Fox, and Miss beauty, made as pretty an Indian maiden as ever came out of Carlisle. Miss Anzonella Kane almost danced hersolf to death, and the Paulding Fosdicks came in for a few dances and the "melodrama" Mrs. Fordick was quite stunning in a gown of pale pink with allyer brocade Some of the glils participating in the entertainment were the Misses Katharine Rhoades, Alice Wardwell, Relen Morgan, Joanna Auchincloss, Eleanor Hinton, Pauline Bolton, Elsie Sanford, Hester Davis, Ruth Haskins, Leonore Cobb. Edith Williams, Doreas Williams, Clarinda Hardman, Ruth Childe, Elizabeth Jeunings, Dorother Wardwell, Helen Sloan, Margaret Tuttle only about one-forty billionth part of gen, or else fell upon the dark lines due Annie Sturgis and Mary Myers. Contains Models Explaining How Dreaded Diseases Are Spread

An ingements have been made by the Alamida County Soriety for the Study and Provention of Tuberculosis to have the State Board of Health's Sanitary Doublit Car at Fourteenth and Franklin streets. Oakland today from 12 to 6 p.m. and all day Monday from 9 till 5 p.m.

m. and all day Monday from 3 till 5 p.m.

This car awakened a great deal of interest in San Jose, where it has just, been opened to the public. The exhibitions are mainly in the form of models, illustrating and explaining clearly how milk carries disease, how people contract tuberculosis, how typhold fever is caught, how malarin is contracted and many other interesting statistry problems including garbage and sewage. Admission will be free. The professor of sunitary science from Stanford will give 10 minute lectures on the various exhibits during the whole time that the car is open to the public. Much can be learned by a visit to this car in the space of twenty minutes and the object lesso is that are there presented are not eacily forgotten. Further announcement of this sanitary car will be made in the pulpits on Bunday and the various clubs of the city and in the schools.

Strangest Dog Ever Known

WHAT THE BOAT RACE COSTS. It will astonish most people to learn that each flash and dip of the sixteen that each stash and dip of the sixteen cars in the Oxford and Cambridge hoat-ract represents a cash expenditure of about 2s. The boat costs exactly £55, and the set of oars not less than £15, but the £70 which the racer with oars costs is only a small item. The autumn trial cights entail an expenditure of £1:0. The expenses of the coach, the board and lodging of the crew, hire of sterm lumich, watermen's fees, half the cost of the umpire's launch, and the dinner after the race make the bill of each Varsity about £6:0, which, divided by the twenty minutes of the contest, average: 10s. per second.

FIREPROOF IN EVERY BENSE OF THE WORD.

"THROW ME A STICK! YELLS PETE, BUT BILL AND I JUST LAUGHT

CHAPTER I THAPTER I
THE LOG BEGINS

GUESS it must 'a' been all o' two years ago since I told yuh of the first voyage Bill Brant 'n Pete
Hamilton 'n me made in the Mousetrap. Well, 'm goin' to say somellin' bout our see and voyage, which, as Bill
Kane 'd say, transposed under the same fav'rble circumstances.
I, still bein' as truthful as Yore
(though, not knowin' Yore, I can't say

'zactly HOW truthful he was, was 'pointed to keep the lopbook of our seaond voyage. So, to contained in the smartest way, I decided to call our travels our "crulse." Bill said it sounded like as If we was after Firates, but he was just jealous o' my learnin'. Now, this talkin' bout a cruise the sayin' that the Mousetrap is a bout. Fur be it from me, as Deaton Jones says in the Cave Hill Meetin' House. Fact is, the Mousetrap is the same o' Mousetrap it always was—an' that's

Bill Brent's pap's of spring wagen, with bent hoops stretched agrees and a coverin' o' canvas. Orful nifty is the erin' o' canvas. Orfel nifty is the Mouselrap, which we named as it is 'count fill's ha ownle' a cheese factry in' Bill's hattn' these an' cheese factries. So fill al.'t much stuck on the name.

An' when we streamed out o' town on this here cruise near a lithe folks came out to yell after us, an' before. We all answered, 'cept Pretty, who was enjoyin' of a nep, as is usual with many dogs. Pretty ain't an' more beaultful than he was. His left ar has the same kink that makes it han; over mournful, while the other sticks up as though he was about to risk a question. His fourth leg is still stift, an' he weat's the same sorry look. But he's all right, is before.

Pa boared me Zeke again to pull us, an' we started off spr; enough. What with the cheerin' an' yells in things, we might 'a' been sojers merchin' off to the che. to victive.

We got along dandy antil we came to the creek, when Peter says:

"Let's have a biywack, so's we can all swim."

"Let's have a bitwack, so's we can all swinn"

'Course, I knew 'zace'ly what a "bitwack" was, but I didn't think Bill did. Sare as smole, pretty soon he mentions:

'You might let a fel er know what a 'bitwack' is afore he up and does h."

'Well, then," 'splained Pete, 'if's standin' still and makin' camp as the reaskins did oft and again on their long-distanced marches."

'Now look a-liere, Pete," I put in, "you don't go speutin' of the 'Redskin's Last Warpath,' like you do evy Friday in school, or the Mousetrap's cruise ends right here."

Pete was mad, but 'e promised, Seein' a seew by the errok, he gennorously let me an' Bill do the un marressin', while ite poiled out from show, takin' Pretty with 'lm. All ar once, howsomewer, his pole stick in the mid, mi' he was a-floatin' downstream. Then the o't thing begon to fill of warer.

pole stuck in the mid mi he was a-floathi' downstream. Then the oli thing began to fill of water.

"Throw me a stick! yells Pete. "I don't want to get my clothes all wet!"

But Hill in I just laughed ready to shill, 'epecially as Prity, who nover did like waters bigger, than mud puddles, started to how! like something hurt 'im hoside.

The size of it was that Pete and Pretty had to swim fer it, which didn't make Pete in any better temper. He chased Bill in I roune the Mousetrap night fifty times 'fore to etumbled over Pretty an' fell an' bloodled his nose. After that, he sounted I he Mousetrap and ate all o' the canned corn, while Bill 'in me took a swim.

We had a set-to' 'hout 'PHAT, let me tell you, 'Philik o' Fete blamin' the corn-entin' stim on Pretty! Pretty may be smart—an' he is sumiter than Pete by lots—but he can't of en cans with his paws or 'is nose. I his know too, that Pete ale the applies that he hamed me for. I only sample a cokple—not enough to unite a bill o' therenes.

There would 'a' been more'n hard feetin's if some one hadn't yelled just then! "What uv you samps been adon't with my boat?"

So many tiny bables must be taught to gurgle and then to lisp the first few words that the fairy teachers had to be whispering continually into baby ears. No, they surely could not spare one precious moment for the animals and lesson time.

As soon as the creatures appeared, the teacher opened school. First she told about the letters of the alphabet. Then she asked, "What does 'B-a'

There was a chorus of answers, but only the sheep replied correctly. The teacher became very cross at the stapidity of all the members of her class, quite forgetting that every animal of bird had become so used to making only a few kinds of sounds that it could ut-ter nothing else. But then the fairy teacher happened to think that the sheep had answered her question. Here was one promising pupil, anyway. But, alas! when she put her second question-- sponded, as before: "B-a-a!" •

Now, although this was a very bright teacher, I'm afraid she wasn't a very patient one. In despuir, she flow to the queen and pleaded to be allowed to resign. Whereupon the queen muttered to herself:

"If my best teacher can do nothing,
I suppose there's no use to send another one,"
Therefore, the animals and birds never learned to use a language of real words.

The Cat Did It.

The Cat Did It.

Matilda had been maughty. She had stolen an orange from the pantry, and when her mother asked who took the orange she had replied:

"The cat did it, mother."

Matilda's mother said nothing. But she teld the little girl's father. At the breakfast table that evenius the father said:

"I'm sorry for the poor out. That orange she ate was poisoned, so that the antmal will surely die."

Matilda grow onle. "B-b-b-n-ut it wasn't the cat, I ate the orange," she sobled.

Then father admitted 'that he had made a mindate about the poison. Matilda, however, had learned a lesson she never forgot.

Couldn't Learn.

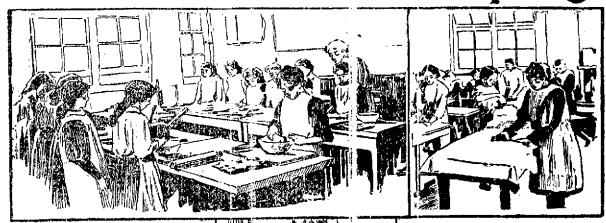

Couldn't Learn.

"It's no use talking," observed Sammy,
"I never could learn to cook,"
"Why not?" asked his companion.
"Because all the recipes in mother's cook book start off with "Take a clean dish."

A Fidgetarian.

"Kilty," said a mother rebukingly to her little daughter, "you must sit still when you are at the table." "I can't, mamma," protested the child; "I'm a ilductarian."

Mondon Schoolgirls All Learn Mousekeeping.

HEN little girls of a hundred years dred years ago went to school they knew that what they learned would not be of great value to them in housekeeping. And, indeed, it wasn't then thought very necessary for girls to go to school at all. Even boys learned little besides reading, 'riting and rithmetic at the ordinary schools.

But now girls learn all sorts of useful things. It is the London County Council, however, that gives London schoolgirls the most thorough course in housewifery.

First of all, hundry centers were started, where girls were shown how to wash clothes and give them a good appearance. So successful did this experiment prove that cooking centers soon were in full swing, and little girls were taught how to cook home. Girls are taught the most economical ways of purchasing food. Then, in the kitchen, they prepare joints, vegetables, desserts

-most everything. They go from room to room, taking part in work that should be of greatest interest to them in the future. They learn the science of washing, the most hygienic way of cleaning, the proper manner in which to make a bed and how to lay a fire. Indeed, the little girls even learn how to care for babies.

And as girls are usually too busy playing to learn such things at home, you will see that lots of good comes from this sort of instruction at school. How would YOU like to have such studies taught in YOUR school? Of course, this question isn't meant for you if you're a boy. One can easily imagine what boys would think of it!

· Fuzzieboy · ·

M a nice pet, so that when Fuzzle-boy came they were hugely de-lighted. Of course, they were sorry that ho had to become their playfellow through a sad accident. You see, one day

ARIE and Felix had long wanted Felix happened to run out a the lane which passes by the house, a donker quietly nibbling at the grass by the roudside. This seemed strange to the boy, insurach as the onkey was harnessed to a costermone is wagon.

There was no sign of the master.

But when the little boy peoped inside the cart, he found a man lying inside pale and still. Fellx at once dashed to the house and told the gardener. He saw the gardener and the coachman remove the sick man to the hospital, and then, just as they were about to take away the cart and the donkey. Felix pleaded ever so hard to be allowed to keep the shaggy little fellow. And the coachman permitted himself to be wheedled, until the donkey was tabled in the coachhouse. Afterward Felix's father was consed and wheedled by Felix and Marie until he, too, consented to the donkey remaining until the master was heard from. But no word ever came from the costermonger, because he died in the hospital.

So fuzzieboy came to be the comrade of the boy and girl. And a splendid chum he was. They could do anything with him, nor did he ever seem to mind. Oh, yes, one time he DIID mind. I'd almost forgotten. Mischlevous Felix had tied two bags on either side of Fuzzieboy's back. In each sack he had placed a cat. Then he started Fuzzieboy's back. In cach sack he had placed a cat. Then he started Fuzzieboy's back. In cach sack he had placed a cat. Then he started Fuzzieboy's back. In cach sack he had placed a cat. Then he started Fuzzieboy agalloping. Naturally, the cats began to yowl and scream, and they scratched all the way through the bags into Fuzzieboy's back. This made the poor donkey run sil the faster, whereupon the conchman came to stop the rumpus, or the cats would soon have had fits and Fuzzieboy—well, Fuzzieboy felt very much like having fits, I tell you!

Revenge came to Fuzzieboy, however. The next time Felix and Marie played see-saw, with a long board balanced over him, he waited until Felix was high in the aft and Marie right tear the ground, then he shifted the board so that which him harm. The three of them really was too fond of his little master to wish him harm. The three of them laughed and laughed about it. Fellx, with his arms round his friend's shaggy meck, asked to be forgiven for having played the trick with the cats, while Fuzzleboy coughed in such a sorry way.

Nam thought them wonderful, but her brother modestly assured her that everything he did was quite simple. And as Dan explains them here, you will see that they really were simple, though most entertaining.

"It's the easiest thing in the world," said he, "to make a honce and a kangaroo go a round by electricity."

From stiff caraboard he cut out the two figures. Then, on one side of each he pusted throll, using the gum only at the edges. The kangaroo be suspended by bron wire, as you see in Figure I. Only one foot of the boxer rests on the bleck of wood. The iron wire attached to this leg by wax runs to a nail thrust into a cork in the neck of a thin lamp channey. When this chinney is united vigorously with silk or fur, electricity is communicated through the wire to the Unfoil covering the boxer's side, BOM experiments for "making when he balanced a cane across the back of a chair and brought the cardboard near, the cane was attracted and unbalanced, failing to the floor.

Figure 4 shows you one of Dan's experiments in which he pinced a cork, in the top of which was thrust a needle, under a glass. But first he balanced a piece of paper on the needle. Rubbing the outside of the glass with a woolen cloth, he made the paper turn, following the course of the cloth.

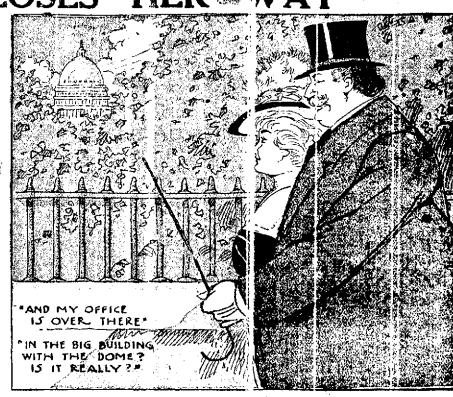

In the construction shown by Figure 5 the little tray resting on the Z-shaped wire has its edge covered with tinfoil. Dan rubbed vigolously both a glass red and a silek of wax. Either, when approached to the infoil, caused electricity to run down the wire and open and close the ends of paper attached to the wire inside the glass.

For a last experiment, Dan placed a sheet of glass over a box wherein lay several little fragments of pith which he had made into dice. When he rubbed the plate with the woolen cloth the pith cubes sprang to the inner side of the plate, where they clung tenaciousis.

spect Many Executions

Severe reprisals and many executions among those prominent ast week's revolt and today's resistance must be expected during next few days.

Today's fighting is largely explained by the fact that those who posed the Salonikin troops were heavily implicated in the recent tiny. They feared the extreme vengeance of the committee and aply tried to sell their lives as dearly as possible.

Full details of the fighting at Constantinople have reached e. The Young Turk troops attacked the city from two sides. e larger force marched from San Stefano, into Stamboul and tured the bridges over the Golden Horn without much resistance.

et With Hot Fire

The other column moved against the Yildiz Kiosk and met with e opposition until it approached the barracks of Tashkisla and cim, near Pera. Here the advancing troops were met by a hot from the loyalist troops, who disputed possession of the barks with obstinate fury.

The fusillade of small arms was reinforced by quick-firing guns. ties of the defenders had barricaded themselves in houses, eet fighting by detached groups became general and hand-to-hand bunters with bayonets were frequent.

For three hours the battle raged. The Taxim garrison made a born defense. Pounded by artillery and raked with shot, they i on with desperate tenacity, but treachery also distinguished ir tactics. During the fight they ran up a white flag as a token surrender. Then as the Saloniki troops approached, the latter e assailed by a deadly fire and were forced to retreat.

and-to-Hand Fight

The besiegers then brought up artillery and poured a torrent shot into the barracks. They rushed the square and engaged loyalists with bayonets. The engagemnt was a series of handand fights. The loyalists were ultimately forced to surrender. The grounds of the Belgian legation were the scene of another berate encounter. A company of loyalists had taken up a strong ition from which they punished the invaders terribly. Quickly Constitutionalists turned and delivered an attack, sweeping the ands with a rush. The legation was peppered with bullets, but e of the inmates was hurt.

The Tophales garrison barricaded themselves in a mosque. ir position was stormed and they were forced to surrender after

rced to Surrender

t the Tashkisla barracks a brisk engagement took place. Driven c by the Constitutionalists, the loyalists retired to an inner room, __ ince they defied their assailants. Called upon to surrender within an hour, they refused. Upon the expiration of the period of the a murderous antillery fire was directed upon them and they e forced to give in.

All of the encounters resulted in victory for the Constitution-:s, and by noon Constantinople was in peaceful possession of their

Idiz Palace Holds Out

A section of the Royal Guard at the Yildiz Kiosk still holds out, ever. Chefket Pasha is investing the palace with a strong force has planted batteries on the surrounding heights, but the besieged ps hold an extremely strong position.

It is confidently believed that the Sultan remains in the palace, there is no communication with him. It is not known whether continued resistance is by his order or whether he is unable to orce vesterday's command that no shot be fired in his defense.

One difficulty in completing the capture of the Yildiz Kiosk is the grounds are reported to be extensively mined. It has been supposed that a secret underground passage leads from the liz Kiosa to the shore of the Bosphorus, by means of which the lan can escape in case of danger. Whether he has availed himof this is unknown.

oclaim Martial Law

The city itself is quiet. The streets are patrolled by Macedonian ments and seek rooms in a practically darmes. Martial hav has been proclaimed.

The report that William Maxwell, the well-known correspondent he Dail: Mail, was killed, is unfounded.

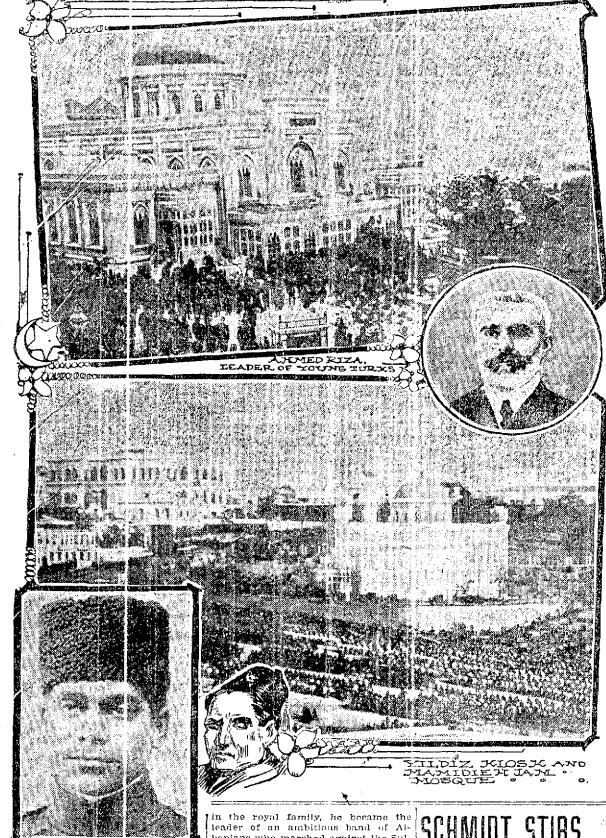

No reliable estimate can be yet made of the total casualties, but invi-official statement puts them as low as 200 or 300.

Large to Occupy Family Bed

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24.-Hanging on a decision of Judge Hunt is a curious tangle of matrimonial differences in which Dr. Getthard S. Bachman, a dentist is the defendant in an ection brought by Mrs. Florence Bachman for $50 a month for support, and before rendering a decision to either party Judge Hunt declared today that he would require some time in which to consider the details of the involved

According to the complaint of Mrs. Bachman they were married ten years ago, but while the Doctor had a remunerative practice she never gave up taching school, which, according to Bachman, was the chief bone of contention between them.

To Support Mother

Mrs. Bachmin said that when she married the loctor it was with the express understanding and verbal agreement that she should be allowed to teach school for one year after their marriage. She said she did this because Bachman had showed a discretion not to want to contribute to because Bachrian had showed a disposition not to want to contribute towards the supject of her mother, who was entirely dependent upon her. Herofore the year was out Mrs. Bachman declares that Bachman had deserted her and that she was compelled to keep on with her work.

In answer to her charges Bachman said that his wife was so large that she crowded him out of bed. He also maintained that he had offered to share the expense of providing for Mrs. Bachman's mother if Mrs Bachman's sister vould do her share to-airs, Bachman's mother it Mrs. Bachman's sister tould do her share to-wards it. This offer, he says, was re-fused and in order to get away from the unpleasan ness he says that they agreed to separate.

Wins Suit for $299

Mrs. Bachman states that their separation was with the understanding that Bachman should pay her $50 a month. Whet six months had passed and he had neglected to pay the monthly sthend, Mrs. Bachman brought suit is the justice's court for $299 and wer her case. Bachman settled the bill and then allowed another six months to clapse and forced Mrs Bachman to bring a second action for the collection of the next half yearly installment. Mrs. Bachman states that their separearly installment.

Bachman in the mean time had armed himsel' with a defense in the form of a letter he had written to Mrs. Bachman in which he offered to take her back and live with her again providing she would are a un to chiler. providing she would give up teaching school. To this she refused to accede, sensor. To this sine reason that she was afraid to give up her position as he master that the ease she would be without a position.

Appeals Case

Justice of the Peace Treadwell de-Justice of the Pence Treatwell decided against Mrs. Bachman in her second action, stating if she refused to go back to her husband it was her own fault and she could not expect to force a collection of allmony through the courts. From his decision the case was applied to the Superior Court and Judge Hunt, after hearing a statement o' the case, has taken the matter under adjisement.

During all of the time the differences of the husband and wife kept ences of the husband and whe kept them apart and living in different parts of the/elty, Bachman says Mrs. Bachman went regularly to him to have her dental work done and that he charged her nothing for it.

SAID ON WOMAN'S RIGHTS

Full Text of the Remarkable Papal Utterance on the New Feminism

SO much discussion has been caused by the brief and i complete reports of the Pope's recent remarkable expressions on woman's rights that THE TRIBLNE cabled its tome correspondent to secure an official and verbatim report cothe papal atterances on that occasion.

ROME, April 24,--The following is exactly what his holiness, Pins X, said on Wednesday. April 21, to a delegati u of the Umon of Italian Catholic Ladies

"After creating man, God created woman and determined her mission, namely, that of being man's companion, hel, meet and consolation.

"It is a mistake, therefore, to maintain that woman's rights are the same as man's.

"Women in war or parliament are outside their proper sphere and their position. There would be the desperation and ruin of society. Woman, created as man's companion, must so remain-under the power of love and affection, but always under his power.

"How mistaken, therefore, is that misguided fen nism which seeks to correct God's work. It is like a mechanic ying to correct the signs and movements of the universe. Ser-sture, and especially the three epistles of St. Paul, emphasizes we nan's dependence on man, her love and assistance, but not her solvery

"Woman's duties, however, are not confined within the household's walls. She has a great social mission; a place of every charitable cause; work to perform on behalf of the sic, the suffering and the criminal; the protection of women and chiloren. In this great and common action women should uni : and should strive to secure the means necessary to exercis the apostlic injunction of social charity."

Result Will Depend on Condition of Big Fellow

To Win From Jack Johnson Jeffries Would Have to Be in First Class Shape With Lasting Power

By EDDIE. SMITH

Now that lames i. Jeffiles has consented to listen to the appeal of the people for a meeting between himself and fack Johnson and has in the own slow wait-a-while manner, said that he will late the big black on in a championship bout the next think to a considered is the condition that the fellow will be table to work himself late.

Already the face of the condition that the Already the fane are asking as to his threes of winning and the interest that bis announcement of intent to fight has created is second to none of the many subjects now on de mis by those who snow and those who do not know.

Whether or not Me Jeffries will ever be able to win a clampionship contest between himself and Johnson is entirely opendent on one thing and that is condilion. If Jeffries can work himself into condition, then he will surely win, but unless he is in fairly good condition when he steps into the ring with the colored man he will be going to his Waterloo.

It would be extremely unfair for anyone to say at this time that Jeffries could never get back into condition, for there are wonders is ing performed every day, but this is fair and it is the truth If Jeffries ever again gets into condition to fight for the clumpionship with the clevel negro, then it will also be a wonder.

Others For Example

It it not hard to flaure this out, either out. Mr. Reider must have some close riend who in his two was an athlete one yourself. Now take this person or yourself and figure that you are 34 years of age, have lived a life of theness for four years, in which is life of inneres of age, have lived a life of inneres four years, in which you have tried to show the boys a good time and in doing so had drank several breweries dry, just who runs a liquor store as any man who runs a liquor store must, had kept very bad hours and had muse, and kept very but months and had never one during that fine practiced at the one particular thing that he was good at and ask yourself if it would be possible for that he seen to again get into condition to go through the ordeal that he did in his orime.

made him a hiethory again gots into the even if he does not dissipate.

Jeffries is a woncerful fellow and perdiction part of Jeffries' campaign is the most important one and the one that will be entitled to his precatest conside atton.

It is the belief of a great many of Jeffries' personal f lends that he really does not intend to fight, although it hardly soems possible that he would make the strictnens is that he has unless he did mean something of the kind.

We have seen Fluzzimmons and Corbett' and Jackson outbox him, and now why can't Julyson do it if he gets Jeffres. Corlect had the youth and lasting can't Johnson do it if he gets Jeffries

Not Picking Johnson

By the time you have read this far you will say that I am picking Johnson to win, but I assure you that this is not the case. I am not urying to pick anyone to win as yet and really feel that the match will never be made, but this thing of saying that Jeffrios will get into one side or the ring and force Johnson to jump out of the other, or that he will make the big negro jump through a knot hole, is all bosh.

no will make the big negro jump through a knot hole, is all bosh.

Johnson is a bigger man that Fitzsimmons was when he met Jeffries and with it he will be in the prime of life and the to hight for his crown. No matter wast the papers any of the condition of Jefries are the fragas.

man and Johnson in the forefront Jeff-ries began to feel that he was slipping away from the limelight. His show many from the business dwindled, and when I say the I know what I am talking about. Then when hetchel and Johnson were matched it vats the last straw. You hardly heard a mention of Jeffries' name. Now the people behind the Jeffries tour are no fools. The are giving him big they have to get it back no fools. The are giving film big money, and they have to get it back from the public. Johnson, by the way, became a little mixed as to his facts and figures. He said he would glady forfeit his $5,000 to ries it to the ring, but he didn't explain where the money is for Jeffries to cover. If Johnson's five thousand is tied up in the Ketchel match Jeffries certainly cannot cover that particular side bet or for-

Johnson's Remarks Pertinent

The fact remains that Johnson's remarks are as portinent and polynant as any slur he has thrown at Jeffres, and the his thrown quite a number. The things to be inferred from what Johnson said is that he is ready to post a new forfeit if Jeffries will agree to fix some date at a respectable distance this side of the grave.

As a reason for being inactive in the matter of covering forfeits heretofore, Jeffrics has said that his theatrical contract forbids him entering into other contracts for many months to come. It isn't very stear how the mere covering of a forfeit could be construed as a violation of any authorogen. Left her with the them

Matthian and Sam Langford.

Judging from the homage paid Sam McVes in the French capitol during the past couple of years, the quartet of heavyweights from this side will be all the tage when they mingle with the crowds on the Paris houlevards. It may be that the French I romoters will make it worth the while of the famous ring meetings to sattle their differences.

After Langford-Ketchel Bout McCarcy of Los Angeles would to send Sam London Metarey of Los Angeles would like to send Sam Langford and Young Ketchel in a the ring for a decisionless tenroum flutter during the Elics' carnival in the southern city in July. Ketchel has been offered big money for his services but it almost goes without saying that his contracts with Coffront will prevent him from excepting if nothing the lors.

BOSTO 4. April 24.—Kid Baker, the youngster who Counte Mack says is his fund." win the game for the Athletes today by sending a ball over the right field fenc, in the first inning with the bases full. This inning was the only time the Athle ics had a change, as Arelianes could not be touched, only three hits being recorded against lim. The Red Sox could not hit Plank at opportune times, this causing their defeat. The score:

Beauty Judges Fail to Announce the Name of the Prize Winner

Major Frank McLaughlin Was a Good Fighter and a Firm Friend

SAN FRANCISCO, April 24. -What a beauty she is! Hotel St. Mark and much of the Consulate of France, I the Starts' champion. Before this he has been chiefly I tooks as thou: a the Union Labor card would win in Div nely tall and most divinely fair! All the graces attend upon her train!

The trees bend in adoration as she passes!

The tall buildings scarce can forbear to fly from their firm bases to do homage to her glory!

Even the dust in the streets dances in cestasy before her! I refer to the Queen of the Carnival---the agreed belle of Cali ornia—the lady who is to rule the merry second advent of Don Gaspar de Portola.

She has been chosen!

Out of a maze of pulchritude, a taughed worder of feminice charms, a swirl of loveliness, she has been se lected is the fairest of the fair. She is to represent the best California can produce in the way of developed womanhood. And she's a Native Daughter--and she's a peach!

Her name?

Her picture?

Not yet! She has been chosen, but for some time to come she is the fair unknown. She is a glorious mystery. She is as chaste as she is fair. She is a beauty sitting down. She is a dream of all the days as she rises. She robs the night of all its charm when she stands. Seen it action no one would re-echo Villon's question out are convinced that the whole thing was nothing more or of the long ago; "Where are the girls of yester year?"

But with this hint you must possess your impatient souls, restrain the rapture of your eyes, enchain your curiosily and desire. The committee of censors and connoi seurs will not announce its choice for some days of imputience and of fret.

There has come one strange story out of this beauty comes -a contest that has been conducted on high, fine lines, without favor and without pull The tale runs that one day in the midst of the flood of photographs sent in -some fair and some unfair-there came a picture of a woman whose chastened beauty seemed to merge the limpid sweetness of Beatrice Cenci and the stately grace of the Queen Louise.

The committee, gray and experienced and solemn, gasped over the revelation. Here was the woman of womer. Here was the perfected type. At last Grace seven notches on his gun, he ran the most brilliant camand Beauty and Modesty had combined in one perfected paign for President that this State has ever known-I

The photograph was hastily duplicated. Preparations were made to send it to all the newspapers to whool along the advertising of the big carnival. In their award souls the committeemen awarded without further examination the apple of Paris. Here was the beauty of beauties, approved beyond peradveuture

But some misty question crossed one mind. An examination was suggested- and made.

The photographs were not given to the press. The life story was not told-an effort was made to forget the face and the episode

It was a modern case of Phryne before the judges.

W · have in our midst a specimen of that rare bird. the genius. Every few days there is an advertisement by some press agent or enthusiast that such a being has risen among us or floated our way. Generally these advertised specimens are merely talented strivers after the highert place or just well-touted false alarms. But this time there is no doubt that we have the genuine article.

I refer to Mischa Elman, who plays the violin. What a storm he has kicked up! The musicians fight over him. One set swear he is the greatest master of the violin ever heard. The other set insists he has not yet become great-though they admit that he is on the road to the heights of Ysaye, Joachim, Kreissler, Sarasate. They instance the fact that he at times hits a flat note. And he does.

But no other violinist has stirred the chills as he does. He combines the command of the fiddle with the entreaty of the 'cello, and he never practices and rarely takes a bath. He's only nineteen years old, and is a Polish Jew from Odessa. But hear him if you want to hear Genius, unwashed and unpremeditated Genius.

We blazed out the new Orpheum this week, and we did it very well- so far as the crowd and the interest and the dressing were concernd. Nothing was to be demanded that the city did not give.

The management did not give much-did not rise in greatiess to a great occasion. The bill was ordinary People contrasted it with the crowd and the surroundings, and said it was poor, punk, rotten! There was a wide feeling of disappointment

That was a time when expense should have been forgotten. H we could have had Caruso, Tetrazzini, Garden- the greatest of the great-we should have had them for that opening. It would have paid in the long run to make the willing, patriotic people believe that from now on vandeville was to live up to its new home. I ties asked for the Game vell boxes. The unions wanted That is to say, that it was to be extravagant, over-1 the local system, so work could be given to local megorgeous and without any regard to cost of production | chanics. A compromise was arranged-50 Gamewell or display. San Francisco did her part gloriously. The management fell down. The occasion was too big for the managers. We need a Hammerstein.

Sen Francisco is to be congratulated on the loss of M. It Comte de Jouffroy d'Abbans, late of your own

He went out in a blaze of notoriety by being punched by John D. Spreckels at the Pacific Union Club and much jumped on by John D.'s relatives and friends. John D. is old now, and he has been sick a lot. But if he'd been in his form of a few years back, when he used to stand up and spar with Jim Corbett, what a picuic that Count would have been for him.

There is no doubt d'Abbans asked for $1000 to soothe his wounded honor. That's the measure of the man. Some of his escapades savor still worse of blackmail.

Not long ago he lured two young and beautiful women out to the heach. It was a royster for them-a royster outside of paren al knowledge. Once he had them there-and one of them was on the edge of a divorce suit-there was a row with a chauffeur. Next came a threat of publication. The story was peddled to the papers. Then the count fell out with the same or another chauffeur. Always the threat of publicity was held over the heads of the two beautiful but foolish women, who had trusted to this d'Abbans' honor.

Many of those who were conversant with the storywho became more or less acquainted with it in the chivalreus effort to protect the names of the women, and who knew the escapade was rierely foolish and not faultyless than a vulgar aftempt at blackmail.

The publication of Major Frank McLaughlin's love letters was a needless entelty. There has been all too much of a coarse willingness to break them into print, He had a singular facility in writing letters-a facility that he shared with a cc tain old chum, and both went to a somewhat similar face. Of course his love epistles are full of the goo goo l'nguage that never is intended for the light. He had a Moor's love for fat women, and found his beart's de ire.

But if what this woman has told is true, what a career for history and romance. If he once did rob a stage, we know he emild have been United States Senafor for the taking. Suppose he did wash dishes in Australia, we have seen the leading men of the State begging lum to become Governor of California. If he had refer to the time when, in 1896, he robbed Bryan of California by sheer managerial ability.

He sold gold bricks to rascals and great mines to honest men. When he quarreled he quarreled in the open. He criticised men to the r faces, putting his life on the touch. The gun fighter of America knew and feared him. He was a prince with his money when he had it. When it was gone and he saw no hope for another stake, he ended it all.

Frank McLaughlin was out of date. At the end of the Middle Ages he would have been a Charles the Bold or a John the Fearless. A little later he would have been

In all this flurry and hurrals in the Chicago wheat pit there hasn't been a ripple in our own Produce Exchange. There haven't been three sales of wheat in this month. The cold fact is, California has gone out of the wheat game -and it's only back in the early '80's that we disputed with Minnesota the distinction of being the premier wheat-producing State of the Union. A few years ago the wheat fleet of California was one of the beauties of the seas.

But now the brokers say: "Oh, we have no wheat here. Portland and Scattle are the centers of the wheat production of the Pacific States. Talk to us of barley!"

And do you know that California is not only the first barley producer of the United States, but she grows onethird the bariey of all our land. That is something for any State to be proud of but we haven't made any blow about it, and the newspapers do not record the qualms and flushes that come to our brokers when barley rises or breaks a point, or the interest attaching to the rains and the acreage in the barley-producing sections of this wonderland of fecundity

Our splendid reform idm nistration stands out in fine relief in the matter of ire protection. We have $50,-000,000 of consumable property dependent upon four fire alarm boxes. If a fre were to start tonight in our commercial and retail center not half a dozen - merchants [ would know where to go to turn in an alarm.

Well, why indeed!

Supervisor McLeran, pride of Reform, with his coleagues Booth and Center, seem responsible, while the American District Telegraph Company stands like Satan behind Faustus in the matter.

There is a Gamewel' system of fire alarms. There is a local system, adequate for the suburbs; not desired by the merchants for down-town use. The fire authoriboxes in the business di trict; 50 local boxes in the outlying sections.

Suddenly in steps the Starr system. It has a wondrous spieler, but its tests do not please the fire authorities or the merchants. "Too delicate," they say.

But on the instant appears Supervisor McLeran as notable for advocating the fire-trap theaters -many of which he has constructed himself-and for trying to introduce dangerous inflammable structures inside the sclected fire limits. McLeran is for the Starr system. Hop go Booth and Center. They put fire protection back in the experimental stage.

Meantime $50,000,000 of destructible property is under four scattered and hidden five alarm boxes; and if the fire broke out what merchant would know where to turn in the alarm?

And then, like a clap of stage thunder we are told that the American District Telegraph Company has acepted the local agency for the Starr system. No wonder Why?" is on many a tongue. J$ J$ J$

How William J. Burns works is aptly illustrated by story told me the other day. The man in charge of the Argonaut's cir ulation department was either discharged or left his employment some months ago. Burus immediately employed him, and by so doing obtained i duplicate of the Argonaut's subscription list.

Burns' agents immediately began looking up the Argonaut's subscribers, and when any of them were ummoned as jurors in any of the graft trials measures were taken to disqualify them. Incidentally many of the subscribers received sample copies of the California Weeldy, a Jeremiah sort of publication started under the auspices of Rudolph Spreckels.

J. Downey Harvey is again having trouble with his Deean Shore unfroad. This time it is with the property owners of the Richmond district, who are bitterly opposed to gran ing him a franchise so worded as to pernit him to operate a steam road through a strictly resience section of the city.

Harvey insists that his company does not intend to perate with steam power, but he strengously objects to riving a clair e inserted in the franchise forbidding the use of sterm. The Richmondites are suspicious of his good faith. If he does not intend to turn the line into esteam redroid they cannot see why he so strongly objects to its being prohibited in the franchise. They thick they see a hole in the grind stone.

Of course Harvey's personal stipulation that he will not use steam power is absolutely worthless. The franchise will speak for itself, and if it does not torbid steam power Harvey's personal assurance will cut no more ice than last year's bird nest.

That there is a ingger in the fence in this frauchise is beyond question. There is good reason to believe that Spreckel, and Phelan are behind Platvey and the Ocean Shore. Their particular henchmen in the Board of Supervisors are standing pat for the franchise as Illarcey wants it. This creates the belief that there is a scheme on foot to sneak an entrance into San Francisco for a steam railroad under pretense of getting a right of way over the public streets for a suburban electric line. Harvey is recaided as a mere figurehead in the under-

People recall the promises and pledges that were made when Spreckels and Phelan were getting rights of way and depot sites donated for the Valley Railroad, and shake their heads when Harvey's promises are mentioned. His assurances are put in the gold brick class by the public generally.

That band of irreconcilables, known as the autis, and including F. J. Dam, the once chairman of the Repub-Ecan County Committee, and Ralph Hathorn, with an acute desire for a political job, are out once more in an attempt to capture the local governing body of that party. It is reported that the malcontents have secured fourteen names to two petitions they have circulated, but as the committee has thirty-six members they will have to try some more before they secure signatures of a majority. One of the petitions that a meeting becalled is addressed to H. L. Worthington, chairman of the regular, or Sullivan wing of the committee, and the other paper is an appeal to F. H. Dam, the nominal leader of the irreconcilables, who was with Spreekels during the last campaign, but is now hugging the toprail of the fence awaiting developments favorable to

The rock upon which the Union Labor Party threatens to split in this campaign is the Union Labor card. The branch of the organization, which is led by Me-Carthy, Tveitmoe & Co., insist that the candidate of labor for Mayor must carry a umon labor card and that none others need apply. The other wing, which just now seems to be headed by Fd Moran, who was May it called the forgety, appears to be missing, and all efforts Schmitz's Civil Service Commissioner, is opposed to the qualification of a union labor eard being exacted, as they are trying to warm up Frank J. Sullivan for the Mayoralty race, and hope to saddle him in the Union Lubor paddock. No one has ever accused millionaire Sullivan of being a Union Labor man-otherwise than by recent registration-much less does he carry a Union Labor eard in the inner pocket of his satin waistcoat.

Now that the Election Commissioners have decided that under the Direct Primary Law different political parties may commate the same candidate, additional inpetus has been given to the scramble for office in the various machines, and the Union Labor leaders are expected to present a plan of campaign at an early date.

D. I. Mahone , the indo sed candidate for Mayor of the San Francisc Democratic Club, which is run in opposition to the regular or McNab machine, is beginning to regard the corpliment as a gilded cube, and it is said that he would we lingly relinquish it. Mahoney has expended some $3() in testing the Mayoralty brick that was presented h a and would turn it over to Frank J. Sullivan for furl er assay at the latter's expense. If atisfactory arra gements can be effected Sullivan may become the joint sommer of the Democratic bolters and the Non-Union I thor Card Party. Should Sullivan deeide to take up Mahoney's fight at the $300 mark he might carry it to is high a figure as $327.50. The members of the Dem cratic bolters' organization are willing but pessimistic a relation to Sullivan's qualities as a political plunger

The Democra ic opponents of McNab sought to induce Matt I. Sul van to succeed to the honors they had thrust on Maho ey, but this Sullivan is a thrifty soul and of a receptice, rather than a disbursing, temperanent As a political expert he refused the thinly eneered gift at I even declined to pay preliminary harges for an a say. . The failure of the United States Senate to confirm the reappointment . Robert T. Devlin to the office of United States D strict Attorney has created quite a flutter among the 1 deral offic als of this district.

It is believe here that the action of the Judiciary Committee of the United States Senate in deferring a recommendation that the appointment be confirmed, means but a bri f delay, as Devlin's record is an exceptional one, and I has been highly recommended by both of California's Scintors, Perkins and Flint. The charges, or allegations, claimst Devlin, so far as may be ascertained from the somewhat meager dispatches from the National Capita are that ie was unfair in the trial of John A. Bensor and Dr. Fdward B. Perrin, commonly known as the 1 g land fraud cases, having to do with government tim or lands in Tehania county.

These cases, a their raunfications, have occupied the attention of cours in California, Arizona and the District of Columbia for several years past. Their most recent presentation has been before Police Judge Shortall of this city, sitting as a Federal Magistrate, to take testimony in the pre iminary hearing of Charles P. Snell: on charges of seve different perjuries committed in the Perrin trial before United States District Judge De Haven and a ju z. According to the evidence of record in this hearing there was theft, perjury and forgery, and subornation of perjury galore in connection with the proceedings had in the Federal departments, not that it was made to appear that any Federal official participated in these crimes, ut that they were committed somewhere along the line : clear if the sworn testimony is to be accepted as ever approximating truth.

The record nows that Snell, the respondent, was once a lawyer; id timber cruiser in the employ of Dr. Perrin, but subs quently went into the service of William J. Burns, who: that time was a Secret Service man in the employ of ti ! United States government. Snell was paid $4 a day cages and S3 for expenses. His labors seemed to have been confined to appearing as a witness for Burns. Whatever (I merits of the original proceeding, that recently had be ore Magistrate Shortall appears to have uncovered a me t malodorous condition of affairs. Snell, in a statement, st forth that he was to contribute to the conviction of I. Perrin by his testimony, and was warned by Bur's to keep to himself his personal belief that the defend at was innocent. In consideration of this service Suc I was to be given immunity by Burns 'no matter who he may have done."

The most starling disclosures run to the forged contract, which ap ears to be a copy of the original contract, and a cope of which copy forms the basis of the indictment agai st Perrin. The first copy, which is to get it into burt have failed. It is much wanted, as it would pro-ably show on its face by whom the forgery was comn ited.

District Attorney Devlar testified that he had nothing to do with the preparation of the case, leaving that to his assistant. Black, who also had charge of the papers. Devlin, as he to tified was his practice, merely went into court to assist a the actual trial.

Black admit ed having had possession of the papers, but had no kn wledge, he testified, of their present whereabouts. They might have been returned to the United States I. ad Office. Another assistant district at-

The original contract, it is claimed, contained no reference to township or site, but the alleged forgery supplied that

The hearing is conducted with a delicacy that would indicate that the case is in the hot tamale class, if not a dynamite borth. Out of the jumble of testimony came the allegation that Francis J. Hency was the attorney for Perrin and passed upon the legal merits of the contract. and that it was from Heney that Special Agent Hunt obtained a copy of the contract upon which Perrin was indicted. Special Agent Lange, by whom it was sought to ascertain the present custody of the alleged forged contract, refused to testify and was subsequently sustained in his attitude by telegraphic orders from Commissioner Dennett, his superior in the General Land Office at Washington, D. Lam told that the Judiciary Committee of the Senate has announced that an investigation will be held. The scene of the inquiry has been transierred to Washington. D. C., and n any of the parties in interest have taken flight to the National Capital. The next developments may be expected at that point. Whether what appears from a local viewpoint to be a most extraordinary condition, will result in a startling explosion, by which Federal officials will be badly damaged in reputation, or it will prove a mere flash-in-the-pan, will probably be soon indicated by the Washington dispatches.

In the meantime some of the political aristocracy, as represented by the Federal officeholders, are watching the course of the Senate Judiciary Committee with a keen

The various Republican side-shows of the last municipal campaign have reorganized under the name of "Municipal League of Independent Republican Clubs." This is but a new name for the many "leagues" of a year ago, who are now attempting to unite under one designation, their much-reduced membership. These leagues have wearied of their one-time millionaire boss and some of them are so ungrateful and even disrespectful as to declare that he was their Jonab. It is their aunounced purpose to spew out this Jonah and "do practical poli-ties." They propose to organize clubs in the Assembly the next campaign. Similar organizations, in years back, were designated "piece clubs," because of their pursuit

The Municipal Leaguers have been in search of a candidate for Mayor for some time. They sought to confer that distinguished favor on Charles C. Moore, the machinery merchant. Moore is reported to have shied at the shadow. It was next sought to inveigle Rolla V. Watt, the insurance man, into becoming a candidate of the "clubs." He, too, was non-receptive of the dubious

The leaders of the "clubs" are now supposed to be taking soundings for the renomination of Taylor to head a ticket which they propose to divide as spoils among themselves. William Crocker, who has been much talked of for the nomination of the regular organization for Mayor is not favored by the "clubs," they assigning as the reason for their opposition that Crocker was discovered, or first brought out, by Tim Sullivan, who cuts a conspicuous figure in the galaxy of local Republican

Sullivan has political enemics, but whether that fact will prove too much weight for Crocker to carry has not yet been made apparent. The light is young yet. Even the local managers of the Republican organization do not appear to be in full harmony on a candidate for Mayor. Jerry Burke does not entlinse ever Crocker and Burke's immediate followers, including Senator Eddle Wolfe, who has the Mayoralty bee it his own bonnet; Fred Jones, and other pollies in the Thirty-seventh: Bauer, Schmidt and Greenebaum of the Fortieth have taken the cue from their chief, and are gently but insidiously knock-

Burke is said to be favorable to the nomination of Walter Stafford, president of the State Board of Harbor Commissioners, for Mayor

On the other hand John C. Lynch favors Crocker and is busy endeavoring to harmonize conflicting interests. Where there are political wounds or burns, Lynch uses, according to that celebrated statesman Billy Bell, a pink salve, which is warranted to I cal all such injuries. A few words, or a little salve, from Lynch, have had a most soothing effect in certain quarters.

If any question remained it respect to James Rolph Jr. becoming a candidate for Mayor it would seem to have been eliminated by the statement of Senator Dick Welch, who was the main promoter of Rolph's candidacy

Districts and "see what there is in it for them" during | and in line to become his campaign manager. "Under | peace g sardians do not appear to have been able to acno condition will Rolph be a candidate for Mayor in this campaign," is the declaration of Welch.

> A read in THE TRIBUNE a few days ago an interesting story of the experiences of the ladies of Alameda with the picture-enlarging frauds that are being attempted in that city. The Encinal City is not unique in relation to this hold-up. San brancisco is going through a similar experience. An oily fellow with artistic make-up calls on the lady of the house with a proposition to enlarge a photograph of hersel or some other member, or friend of the family. The work is to be done free of charge, the purpose being to advance art, the unctions person representing himself to be connected with an "Art Academy" or "Art Studio" having for a prefix the name of some reputable and distinguished citizen. The enlargement is to be made by the students of this mythical institution which has no existence beyond a cheap sign attached to a building in the Western Addition.

> The lady of the house listens to the siren song of this facer and gives the photograph of a deceased relative, possibly the only picture she has of a departed mother or child. The next day another member of the band of imposters calls and secures the lady's signature to a card, just to be used as a memorandum," but which is, in fact,

> When the enlargement of the picture is brought to the house later a demand is made that $10, or even a larger sum, be paid for the flimsy frame in which it is enclosed. These frames are of the cheapest quality, being shipped here from the East by the carload. The lady demurs at the charge and then the bully, who attempts to enforce payment, becomes threatening and insulting.

Po-sibly the victim visits the "Art Academy" with a view to recovering the much prized and only photograph she had of her dead child. If she still fails to respond to the extortion she is further abused and insulted. Recently a mother was made almost frenzied with grief by sceing the much prized and only photograph she had of a departed child torn into fragments before her face in response to a demand by her that it be returned. "Payor have the only picture of your loved one destroyed before your eyes" is the policy and practice of these sharp-

ALLEGED THIEVES OF PAPERS IN COURT

FAN FRANCISCO, April 24.—The six men accused of being implicated in the alleged theft of valuable papers from the office of William J. Burns and bearing on the graft prosecution, appeared in purson or by 'counsel vesterday before Police Judge Duasy. The cases without exception were continued until May 1 to be set for hearing.

William M. Abbott, counsel for the United Rallroads, charged with receiving the stolen goods, was not present in court. Autorney Frank Murphy, Bugene A Platt, Luther Brown, Joseph H. Handlon, William Corbin, Rex M. Hamiln, erry Van Wormer and Albert McKinley, each charged with grand larceny, are the thers whose cases appear on the calendar.

The cases were continued for the reaon that Burns absence from the city makes it impossible, so it was stated, to begin the case owing to the fact that he is a necessary witness for the prosecution.

Prospective Investments in Oakland. Visiting Japanese Fleet.

Few people in or out of Oakland have anything like a correct in permanent development here. The Southern Pacific Company's managers have said recently that the development work which has been started by the corporation in Oakland and its suburbs, and $10,000,000. This large sum of money is to be spent on improvements which will increase Oakland's transportation facilities, help business by the multiple processes, increasing its accommodations and naturally its volume and economies, make Oakland more attractive and desirable as a place of residence, thus adding to the population, and enhance the values of all classes of realty within it and its immediate suburbs, where the values are marvelously low at present, considering that a population of at least 450,000 is already tributary to it.

We are also assured now of the expenditure of possibly over $1,000,000 within the next twelvemonth in the erection of the Bankers' Hotel on the revised plans which have been adopted and the furnishing of the same when it is ready for occupancy.

The completion of the Claremont Hotel, which has been successfully financed, involves an expenditure of $400,000 within the

The city government in the budget for the next fiscal year, begipning July 1st, has provided for the expenditure of $300,000 of its revenues, or 28 per cent of its total income, in permanent betterments, and i has taken the initiative toward the carrying out of water front improvements for commercial uses, public buildings, the acquisition o' new school sites and building involving a new bond issue of $5,000,000, which the community, fully awakened to its true interests, is sure to approve at the polls whenever the propositions are submitted to it.

At the list session, Congress through the carnest and intelligent efforts of Congressman Knowland and Senator Perkins made an additional appropriation of $256,000 for the further deepening of

We have, therefore, immediately in prospect, the expenditure of $16,956,000 in permanent improvements in the community, without counting the vast sums of money the Western Pacific, the Key twelve months. Route and the Oakland Traction are spending in expanding their only three sets of triplets and one systems and improving transportation facilities, or what other large corporations have planned to spend in the development of their respective enterprises.

Is there any citizen in the community so lacking in intelligence and foresight as to be unable to comprehend what the circulation of this sum of money means to the welfare of its every interestlabor, skilled and unskilled: manufacturing; business, commercial and financial, and realty values in general? We think not. But it will do no one any harm to reflect a little on the prosperity in store for Oakland in the coming months.

Constitutionalists Seize Constantinople.

By force of arms, the Young Turks are in possession of Constantinople, the capital of the Ottoman empire. The internicine conflict between the Salonican army and regiments constituting the mutinous garrison which overthrew the reform minstry, with the Sultan's connivance, and attempted to destroy the constitution and restore the despotic form of government it displaced, was short, sharp and decisive. When the army of investment entered the city there were several fierce conflicts, but all ended in the defeat of the the Searborough screw steam trawler garrison, all of whom have been either slaughtered or taken prison- Scal returned to port with a remarkers. The wily Sultan remained in the Yildiz Kiosk, but showed no signs of yielding until the Constitutionalist army occupied the heights con manding the palace and began to shell it. Then the white flag was displayed as a sign of surrender.

I have heard Mrs. Roosevelt Biniself say that Mr. Pinchot ordering the merchants to open the barrels. tolerance. Their leaders are urging the merchants to open the bazaars and resume business in the usual way.

The one peculiar thing about the reform revolution is the reverence which the Constitutionalists still seem to hold for the so-called its full height, to nearly 30 feet, with sacred person of the Sultan and Caliph. Besides, a vast amount of the business transacted in this city is done strictly with eash, which cuts no figure in clearing-house returns, whereas in San Francisco, since the abolition of "steamer day" coin payments have been practically suspended and all collections formerly chiefly made in coin, which never figured in the clearing-house records, are now mainly made by check and cut a big figure in the volume of clearing-house business.

So Reoseveit has at last reached the lion and other big game hunting grounds in Central Africa, unless the telegraphic reports littckery rose to the situation. In a few days a squadron of Japanese naval training ships, idea of the amount of money that is on the point of being invested which is now on its way across the Pacific, will enter San Francisco bay. The visit is strictly friendly. The Japanese government has lignified the squadron by placing it in the command of an admiral. In San Francisco preparations are being made to give it a cordial welcome in return for the handsome treatment which the Atlantic which is to be hastened to a completion involves the expenditure of battleship fleet received when in Japanese waters on its voyage around the world. The Japanese government and the people spared no expense or effort to show their friendship to the fleet and to exlend every courtesy to its officers and men. Indeed, they were more profuse in their attentions to the fleet than they would have been probably under other circumstances, because of the friction which had apparently existed between the two governments, and which had been magnified unduly by intrusive intermeddlers.

What is Oakland doing in the matter of extending a courteous velcome to the visiting squadron? There is as large a population on this side of the bay as there is on the other. Does it intend to remain indifferent and be outdone in a display of friendly courtesy of the river, and Fort Eric to Old Niby its neighbor on the western peninsula? If so, it will be no credit to Oakland. If it means to extend a friendly welcome to the Japanton would be of interest to your readremain indifferent and be outdone in a display of friendly courtesy nese naval officers and cadets of the squadron it is time for us to bestir ourselves. We believe that the suggestion is enough to arouse action. The delay in making any special preparation for extending The famous falls of the same name ocan official and popular welcome to the squadron has probably been due to the fact that we have had of late several local matters of serious importance to the welfare of the community engrossing our atention. It is not too late, however, to move in the matter.

The appointment by Mayor Mott of a Board of Park Commissioners, in accordance with the amendments to the charter recently adopted by the voters of Oakland, endorsed by the Legislature and approved by the Leg slature, is another of the substantial proofs of Oakland's progressiveness and metropolitan development.

Come and See the Stunning Suits the Whole City is Talking About

Ever put your firger in water, pull it out again, and then look for the hole? You would think there would be a hole in our suit stock after such vigorous selling. But new suits are arriving every day. As soon as one suit goes another comes rushing in to take its place. Our stock will be kept complete until the

Brand New $25, $28.50 and $30.00 Suits On Sale at $20.00

Stylish? Of course-in that they follow the latest breath of fashion. But correct style isn't the only thing these suits have to commend them They are beautifully tailored—the fabrics are rich and fashionable—the colorings are the very ones you women want this season. Some are made with smart simplicity—some are nearly trimmed. The maker—one of the best in New York—was anxious for a share of our business, and made a bid for it by selling us this lot at an actual loss. We could easily sell the suits at their regular prices—they are splendidly worth $25.00 to $30.00. But it is our rule to sell for as little as we can, not is much as we might, so—while they last—your choice of these handsome $25.00 to $30.00. Suits for $20.00.

$12.50 for Beautiful Messaline and Foulard Silk Dresses that Are Worth $18.50, $20.00 and $22.50

High-Colored $35.00 Suils Reduced to $20.00

Frankly, we are overstocked on suits in the following colors—rose, light blue, pearl gray, champagne and the other pastel shades.

The suits are very desurable—say his as can be But for some reason or other they haven't sold as freely as we expected. So down goes the price to $20.00—a reduction of $15,00 on each and every suit. At the educed price we are confident these dresses will fly out of the constraint as if they had warrs.

$1.25 Beautiful New All-Over Embroideries for 48c

-One Of the Most Remarkable Sales Our Embroidery Department Ever Announced-

Hundreds of patterns. All new, and among them are some of the most beautiful designs we have ever seen. Strongly worked on fine cambries, namesooks and swisses. The very thing for summer dresses, waists and underclothes. It took a purchase of more than two thousand yards to secure this very wonderful bargain for you. The importer was getting ready to go to St Gall Switzerland, to make his purchases for next season. Before sailing he wanted to dispose of all unsold stock and offered us these handsome all-overs for a song—if we would take them all. We jumped at the chance—as cagerly as a trout jumps at a fly. And you will be as glad to buy them as we were. See, wincow display.

$1.00 Fancy Dress Nets On Sale at 39c

White, cream and eeru. Many different patterns. 45 inches wide. These handsome nets will be surrounded by eager buyers bright and early tomorrow morning. How do we know? Because they have been in the windows for two days and hundieds of women have admired and tried to buy them. But we have not sold a yard and will not until tomorrow, is we want every reader of this advertisement to have an equal opportunity to select from the entire assortment # of 75c Shantung de Lyon Silks at 39c On Sale Tomorrow

IS will be welcome news for hundreds of women. The first lot of these silks sold out in a twinking—there wasn't a single yard left at the end of the second day, and (ardy comers were disappointed. Shanting de Lyon is a beautiful silk-mixed pongee—the fabric that is immensely popular with Fashion's devotees, because it is so splendidly adapted to the prevailing styles in street and excuing costi mes. The quality we offer in this sale is very soft-very lastrous-and full twenty-seven inches wide. In the lot you will find every new shade and every standard color

For 75c Silks

If you knew these silks as we do-if you knew how fashionable they are-if you knew how eagerly eastern women are buying them at full price-if you knew how many lously cheap they are at thirty-nine cents a yard—our big silk department wouldn't be hall large enough to accommodate the crowds that would come to take advantage of this opportunity to buy to a dresses for the usual price of one.
